We believe that traveling is a very important part of the life because it change the perspective or way to see the world; nothing compares to feel by yourself the experiences that going abroad brings.

That is why our aim is to show all the beauty that involves South America, its people, its culture, its traditions and everything you can learn from it. Feeling South America is part of what we offer since the first time you get in touch with us and stay with you even when you are already back home.

400) this.width=400" />We have a phrase: "We find your perfect place", it means that we understand the different expectancies and requirements of our friends.

For each one we always have something special and different to offer but for all of you we make our maxim effort to give some unforgettable holidays.

Landscape Peru is compromised with the preservations of our resources as natural as cultural; we support the sustainable tourism and as well, we love being responsible travellers; due to it, many of our tours try to show places where the nature is mixed in perfect symbiosis with human cultural remains, trying not to change the landscape neither the nature life in the place.

We want you to be part of Southamerica.
